

CRITICAL PRAISE THIS IS WHAT I WANT

GWEN FLORIO, award-winning author of “Montana” and “Dakota”

“The more things change—you know how this one goes. But nothing’s staying the same in Grandview, the fictional eastern Montana town in Craig Lancaster’s bittersweet new novel, THIS IS WHAT I WANT. Lancaster writes with great affection for small towns, but never lets that affection cloud the hard fact that their homey façade often masks troubles rivaling anything bubbling up from the oil patch. Change might be the best thing that could happen to Grandview.”

LYNDEE WALKER, Agatha Award-nominated author of “Devil in the Deadline”

“Who we are, even in our darkest moments—our dreams, our what-ifs, and our final reckonings—can all be found in this masterfully told story about a small town straddling the line of changing times. The people of Grandview will engage readers from the first page to the last. I didn’t want this book to end.”